Two Rival Sailors' Unions Square Off Against Each Other in the Shipping Tie-up—One Union Offers to Replace Strikers.

GENERAL TIEUP

Pacific Coast Unions Call for General Strike on All American Ships.

Madrid, Nov. 3 (AP).—Sweeping forward on three fronts, powerful Fascist drives hammered government defenders back almost to the gates of Madrid today.

One Fascist column, attacking from the south, surged far north of Parla, only 10 miles from Madrid on the Toledo highway, in the face of a barrage of steel laid down by government artillery.

Socialist guns blazed almost incessantly, desperately striving to halt the insurgent advance. They were posted at Fuenlabrada and Leganes, directly in the path of the oncoming Fascist warriors.

Leganes is a bare five miles south of the capital.

Tanks and artillery backed up the Madrid defense line to the west against another insurgent thrust toward Villa Velosa, about 10 miles southwest of Madrid on the by-road between Brunete and Alcala.

The Fascists' charge, pouring out of Brunete, endangered the government's strategic positions at El Escorial. In that sector also an insurgent assault on Zarzalejo, southeast of El Escorial, imperiled a government armored train.

Planes Spread Terror
Fascist warplanes raked Getafe, on the outskirts of Madrid, with machine-gun fire, and bombed Alcala de Henares, about 15 miles northeast of the capital on the road to Guadalajara.

Government officials acknowledged that the Fascist vanguard had spread south of the capital to Pinto, parallel with Parla, spanning the territory between two arterial highways.

The air ministry said government planes had bombed fascist bases far behind the advanced outposts of the insurgent attack near Talavera de la Reina and north of Toledo.

Two school girls on their way home from classes in the popular Prosperidad district, a working class neighborhood, were critically injured by a small bomb dropped during the fourth of the fascist air raids in Madrid environs yesterday.

In Sight of Madrid
With the Spanish fascist army south of Madrid, November 3 (AP). Gen. Jose Varela's fascist troops, with their eyes literally on Madrid, occupied Fuenlabrada, seven miles south of the capital, today.

The village of Pinto, at the opposite extreme of a contracting fascist semi-circle about 10 miles south of Madrid, also was captured.

Fuenlabrada is less than three miles from the military airport in government-held Getafe, a Madrid suburb.

The overpowering insurgent attack gained the day's objective after only two hours of desultory fighting. Three columns of Moors and foreign legionnaires converged on the town, meeting only slight resistance despite the activity of government artillery batteries.

Fascist warplanes showered bombs on Getafe and Madrid suburbs, throwing up clouds of smoke that were easily visible from a church steeple at Giron, 10 miles away.

Final Attack Phase
Preparations were being completed for an imminent attack on Madrid's "last line of defense" where government forces were believed to have constructed concrete entrenchments behind Getafe.

Columns of tanks mounting machine-guns and light cannon as well as 155 pieces of field artillery and heavy guns rolled up the highways toward the new battlefield.

Fascist officers made dates to drink wine in Madrid in four days.

They expected to march into the capital no later than Friday unless entirely unexpected resistance developed.

An insurgent tri-motored Martin bomber met disaster near Alcala de la Reina. Three Fascist fliers were killed.

The plane was shot down in flames by two government fighters from such a low altitude two insurgent pilots and a machine-gunner were unable to bail out properly.

They crashed to earth under half-opened parachutes.

Although government captives were quoted as saying the Madrid defense force used 11 Russian tanks yesterday, they did not appear in action today.

This writer inspected one large captured tank in the road near Parla. The machine of two machine guns and a small cannon peered through its turret slots and dials on its instrument board were marked with Russian characters.

Election of New Congress Takes Big Share of Interest

(By The Associated Press.)

Washington, Nov. 3.—The election of a new congress to dig into a mountain of "unfinished business" shared national interest with the presidential contest in today's balloting.

Republican candidates hoped to slash away the overwhelming Democratic majority in the house of representatives, although they had no chance to wrest control of the senate.

Democratic victories in 1932 and 1934 gave the party enough senators serving six-year terms to guarantee it more than 50 of the senate's 96 seats, regardless of today's returns. Thirty-five senators will be named today from a list of 132 candidates of more than a half dozen shades of political belief.

An unusual upset would be necessary to place even the house into Republican hands, since 308 out of the 435 seats are now held by Democrats. Republicans have 100 members, while Progressives hold 7 and Farmer-Laborites 3. Seventeen seats are vacant.

oters are choosing their new representatives from among 1,239 aspirants, including Socialists, Communists, Prohibitionists, Progressives, Farmer-Laborites, and Christian and Union party candidates.

No matter what its political complexion is, the next congress will face plenty of hard work when it convenes January 3.

Proposals for tax revision, sweeping government reorganization, and new aids to agriculture are expected to come before it, in addition to the problems created by the expiration of a whole series of New Deal emergency statutes.

Gubernatorial contests, closely meshed in many instances with the presidential campaign, command public attention in 33 states, where 128 candidates are in the field.

Twenty-five of the governorships at stake are held by Democrats, apart from 11 others not involved in today's election. New chief executives were assured in many states, since only 14 incumbents are seeking to return.

Nation-wide attention centered on the New York governor's race, where William F. Bleakley, the Republican nominee, is opposing Governor Herbert H. Lehman, candidate for re-election at the request of Democratic party leaders.

The electorate of 30 states were asked to pass upon 51 initiative and referendum measures and 23 proposed amendments to their constitutions, dealing in most cases with taxes, social security, and local government organization.

A variety of revenue changes, ranging from chain store levies to state income taxation, will be approved or rejected by 12 states, voting on 24 proposed amendments.

Eight states are balloting on nine social security amendments to determine whether they shall take part in the federal program for old age pensions, unemployment relief and other benefits. This question is at issue in South Carolina, Oregon, Nevada, Louisiana, Kansas, Florida, Washington, and Colorado.

The future of expiring New Deal legislation may be largely determined by the results of congressional contests, regardless of the presidential election.

Five Houston precincts reported an hour after the polls opened at 7 a. m. 40, S. T. H. Hays voting was reported in all precincts although a few more strikes this morning.

London Wins at Tolland
Tolland, Mass., Nov. 3 (AP).—Governor Alf M. Landon, Republican presidential nominee, received 44 votes here today compared to 21 cast for President Roosevelt. In the 1932 presidential election 23 votes were cast for Herbert Hoover and 23 for Gov. Alvin T. Landon.

PLANE TERROR

Rebel Aviators Spread Terror Throughout Suburbs; Great Deal of Fighting Desakury.

New York, Nov. 3 (AP).—Police emergency squads patrolled a tense waterfront today, alert for trouble in the wake of a war of words that squared two rival sailors' unions against each other in New York's shipping strike.

From David Grange, third vice president of the International Seamen's Union, came the statement that his union would be ready today to put crews on all ships tied up by the "sit down" strike of the insurgent seamen's defense committee.

He promised protection to men who went to work, "even if we have to go to the extent of arming our men."

The reply from Joseph Curran, lean, aggressive chairman of the seamen's defense committee, was laconic: "I foresee violence and plenty of it."

Grange's stand that "we are going to take Curran and his group over just the way Grant took Richmond" found support from Ivan Hunter, secretary-treasurer of the International Seamen's Union.

"The I. S. U. is standing by its agreement with the ship owners, and is willing to do everything we can to keep those agreements, regardless of the action of any minority," was his comment.

Plan Blockade
San Francisco, Nov. 3 (AP).—Leaders of the Pacific Coast general maritime strike called today for a tie-up of all American ships. They sought to extend the blockade to Atlantic and Gulf ports.

The "new policy" instructions issued by the joint committee representing seven dock and seagoing unions ordered crews of Pacific Coast ships to walk-off at "any United States port."

Crews of all other American ships were urged to "sit down" and draw the blockade tight around the entire United States.

A hearing here by the Federal Maritime Commission, from which union representatives bolted yesterday, was postponed indefinitely by Admiral Harry G. Hamlet.

Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady continued efforts to bring about resumption of settlement negotiations. The immediate critical issue was the employers' demand that "safety crews" remain on tied-up ships.

"We will have to take whatever steps are necessary," said Thomas G. Plant of the employers' committee, "to put men aboard for the safety of the vessels."

His statement was interpreted by observers as the first threat from employers to replace strikers with non-union crews.

Official Action.
In the first official action against strikers, Philadelphia's mayor, S. Davis Wilson, declared the "sympathy" walkouts of seamen illegal and ordered the arrest of pickets. His police "strike squad" jailed seven men who refused to "move on."

Vessels in paralyzed Pacific coast ports increased to 150 or more. Joseph Curran, head of the Seamen's Defense Committee at New York, claimed 133 ships were idle at Atlantic and Gulf ports.

David Grange, third vice-president of the international seamen's union, threatened at New York to meet "force with force" if Curran's rank-and-file followers attempted intimidation of sailors deciding to remain at work.

Regular union officers also sought to check the spread of the rank-and-file sympathy actions at Philadelphia, where they were shouted down, and at Houston, Tex.

Edward VIII Pledges To Aid European Peace

London, Nov. 3 (AP).—King Edward today pledged his nation to do all in his power "to further the appeasement of Europe."

Standing in front of the throne in the House of Lords, garbed in the heavy state robes of gold-edged crimson velvet, the 42-year-old bachelor monarch made this significant plea for peace to the bustling armed camps of troubled Europe.

The new sovereign, opening the first session of parliament in his reign, announced that after the coronation in London next May he would go to India to be crowned emperor.

He also called an imperial conference to meet in London next May.

Thousands of his subjects, jamming the mail and the horse guards' parade in Whitehall, stood in a driving rain to catch a fleeting glimpse of Edward as he passed in a closed motorcar.

Wedding Britain to the task of placating Europe, Edward said the nation would persist in its efforts to bring about a meeting of the Locarno powers and expressed the hope that London naval agreement of March 25 would become "the basis of international agreement to which all naval powers will eventually become parties."

He stressed Great Britain's determination to back the Spanish non-intervention committee while at the same time pursuing "every opportunity to mitigate human suffering and loss of life in that unhappy country."

New York State Voters Throng Polling Places As Nation Eyes Outcome of Pivotal Balloting

Offices at Stake in 38th National Vote

(By The Associated Press.)

Offices at stake in today's 38th national election—President, vice president; 35 United States senators, 432 House members; 22 governors, many lower state officials.

Time polls close: Varied with the states. Some polling units close when last registered voter casts ballot. In far northwest they will remain open until 11 p. m., E. S. T.

Probable time of conclusive count: May be unusually late this year because of huge vote. Important New York count may not be announced until around midnight, E. S. T., because of three-hour extension of poll closing time.

Probable vote: May reach 45,000,000 on basis of restrictions. Necessary to elect president: 266 of 531 electoral votes.

Picking the Winner From Voting Trends

(By The Associated Press.)

Straws in the election winds to watch tonight:

New York—This state usually votes for the winner, its loss by Landon would be almost fatal. However, tonight loss is not certain.

Pennsylvania—Another state Landon cannot easily afford to lose. If it leans Democratic, a top-heavy Democratic victory is indicated.

Massachusetts-Rhode Island—Democratic majorities here, or in Landon's home state of Kansas, would point to a major Republican disaster.

California—Its loss by Roosevelt would badly upset Democratic expectations and strongly suggest a Landon victory.

Ohio, Indiana, Illinois—If these states and the east swing Republican, a close election is certain. If Democratic, Roosevelt would look the winner.

With 15,940 registered voters in Kingston up to noon today 6,533, or less than half that number, had voted in the various voting districts in the city. In other words there were 9,407 voters who had until 9 o'clock this evening to record their choice at the polls.

Under the new state law the polls will keep open three hours longer today throughout the state.

In the Thirteenth ward where one of Father Divine's heavens is located none of the Angels had registered and none were entitled to vote today.

The reason why the Angels did not register is because they refused to give their real names when registering election officials said. Under a ruling of the Ulster County Board of Elections they were entitled to give their religious names, provided they also gave their real names, which were to be written alongside of the religious names. This the Angels refused to do, and as a result were not entitled to vote this year.

Election officials expressed themselves as well satisfied with the way the vote was coming in, and expected that the greater part of the vote would be in before 7 o'clock this evening.

No disorder marked the casting of the ballots today in any of the 20 polling districts in the city. As customary the police department had assigned an officer to duty at all of the polls. With 20 voting districts it made it necessary to have 20 policemen, and in a majority of the districts special police were assigned to duty so that the regular men could perform their usual duties in patrolling the streets and caring for traffic.

All the nominees were on home-ground for the ceremony of entering the polling booths amid the clicking of photographers' shutters: President Roosevelt at Hyde Park, Governor Landon at Independence, Kas., after an over-night train ride from Topeka; Col. Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, at Chicago; Vice President Garner, Democratic nominee for re-election, at Tangle, Tex., and the other candidates at their respective home towns.

Last night they said their final pre-election words. Mr. Roosevelt, talking from Hyde Park by radio, told his listeners they should not be "afraid to vote as you think best for the kind of a world you want to have."

"A man or woman in the polling place is his or her own boss," he said. "How a citizen votes is the citizen's own business. No one will fire you because you vote contrary to his wishes or instructions. No one will know how you vote."

He was joined in his remarks by the nation by Senator Wagner (D, N. Y.), who said the voters would "indignantly repudiate" the pure money campaign against the social security act. Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, and Edward A. Flynn, Boston merchant, spoke on the same program.

Governor Landon, in his final speech from Topeka, urged the voters to go to the polls "resolved that the Early Bird Figures in New England Show Lead for the G.O.P. Nominee.

(By the Associated Press)

With the first sparks from the election anvil showing little of how the resulting fire will spread, millions of sovereign voters today pounded out on an increasing tempo their choice of national and state leaders.

First returns from New England, some of them cast shortly after midnight and others before the sun was well risen, gave a few-voice edge to Republican-Landon. Hardly had these ballots been recorded when a handful of Texas precincts and one village in Alabama came in with a majority for Democrat Roosevelt, swamping the tiny margin the other way.

But with statisticians figuring that an all-time record of 45,000,000 voters may record their choice before 11.00 p. m., tonight—despite snow and rain and lowering clouds in widespread sections—the first few hundred ballots of course told little.

Junior D.A.R. Cake and Candy Sale

The Junior group of Wilt-yek Chapter, D. A. R. will hold a cake and candy sale at the Chapter House on Crown street immediately following the regular meeting of the Senior group, Thursday afternoon, November 5. A wide selection of home made confections will be offered for sale. The members are to bring their signed favorite recipes for the Junior Group work.

James S. McPherson and Miss Catherine A. Burhans, who have been spending the summer at Hurley, left this morning for their home, 693 Hudson avenue, Albany.

Engagement Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Brink of 42 Sterling street announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia S. Stanton A. Warren, son of Dr. George S. Warren of Pearl street.

The marriage will take place during the month.

Miss Carol Ensign of Washington avenue spent this past week-end in New York city where she was the guest of Miss Shirley Silverman, who is studying dramatics with Ethel Barrymore.

Delightful Halloween Party

Last Saturday evening Miss Olive Clearwater of Hurley entertained at a Halloween party at her home in Hurley. All of the guests were in costume. There was a mock wedding and a spider web race. After the guests had gathered they were led by devious paths to the outside entrance to the cellar. Here lighted only by jack o' lanterns they visited the traditional fortune teller, who had both exciting and dire predictions for each member of the group. Afterwards the party enjoyed dancing. Later refreshments were served. Those attending the party were: Miss Katherine Mizel, Miss Betty Matthews, Miss Maxine Taylor, Miss Phyllis Craft, Miss Grace Cater, Miss Natalie Fuller, Miss Romona Stone, Miss Janet Boerker, Miss Virginia Boggs, Bob Iseman, Bill Sharkey, Joe Deegan, Arthur London, Bud Snyder, Edwin Ford, Frank Ostrander, Wayne Reynolds, Frank O'Hara and Bill Sammons.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Clough of Woodstock spent this past week-end in New York city.

Mendelssohn Annual Dinner

Dr. Elmer Tidmarsh of Schenectady and Charles Gilbert Spross of Poughkeepsie were guests of honor of the Mendelssohn Club at their annual dinner meeting last Thursday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Dr. Tidmarsh, who will again conduct the Mendelssohn Club for the 1936-1937 season, recently returned from a trip to England, France and Germany, where he attended a number of the various summer musical festivals and concerts. Dr. Tidmarsh explained to the club that interest in music was outstanding in these countries. He found England a trifle more progressive in trying out new musical ventures. In Germany there was as always a keen interest in music, but the music there was more traditional and frequently of historical significance. In France Dr. Tidmarsh found music making little advance. There the classic compositions and operas of the last century are still the popular form of music.

Dr. Charles Gilbert Spross, noted composer and pianist, who was recently honored by having the degree of Doctor of Music conferred upon him, gave a group of piano solos. At the conclusion of the meeting, the club enjoyed group singing under Dr. Tidmarsh's direction.

Miss Catherine Myer of Hacketts-town, N. J., spent this past week-end with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Albert Milliken, at their home on the Hurley Road.

Halloween at Home for the Aged

This past Saturday evening, the Bible class of the First Dutch Church held a Halloween party at the Home for the Aged. A number of other guests also attended. The Home was fittingly decorated with black cats, owls and pumpkins, while from each chandelier hung black and yellow balls. The groups thoroughly enjoyed singing such old time favorites as the Stephen Foster negro songs. Mrs. Augustus H. Van Buren accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Alonzo Wood sang as a solo "Kathleen Mavourneen," while Mrs. Charles Clinton sang "The Rosary" and the old negro spiritual "There's Gonna Be a Wedding Tonight." Mrs. Van Buren accompanied Mrs. Wood, while Mrs. William Cranston played for Mrs. Clinton, who afterward assisted Mrs. Van Buren in leading more group singing. The guests enjoyed old fashioned games and concluded by dancing the Virginia reel. Before the guests departed refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Palmer acted as chairman on arrangements.

The Girls Friendly Society of St. John's Church held a semi-formal dance at Golden Rule Inn Friday evening. Some thirty-five couples attended. The regular Golden Rule orchestra furnished the music for dancing. The committee arranging the dance were Miss Edna Beatty, Miss Dorothy Anderson and Miss Katherine Bechtel.

Lawton Progressive Club

The Lawton Progressive Club will meet Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Anna Van Dyke, 45 Van Buren street.

50th Anniversary

Stone Ridge, Nov. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis are receiving congratulations on their 50th wedding anniversary which they celebrated with a dinner party at their home on Wednesday evening.

Society Meeting

Society members met with Mrs. Hall Monday afternoon. Mrs. Lewis Kaylor had current events for the day. Mrs. Hall gave on the paper for the day, a very fine book review of the "Autobiography of Gleanings." Next week the club will meet with Mrs. Drake.

Stuck-Butler Nuptials Held

Miss Florence E. Butler, of 608 Delaware avenue, and Harry F. Studt, of 68 Moore street, were united in marriage on Sunday by the Rev. E. L. White, of the Livingston Street Lutheran Church. They were attended by Miss Mildred A. Sahlin, and George Studt.

Carpino-Taylor

Miss Elise Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Taylor of Hunter, and Joseph Carpino, of 14 Crane street, Kingston, former lightweight boxer, were united in marriage by Judge A. Hines in the Municipal Building, New York city, Friday, September 25. They were attended by Ralph Carpino and Florence Shaw. After the ceremony there was a wedding dinner in the Hollywood Restaurant, New York.

Miss Ruth Gumaer Is Wed

Miss Ruth A. Gumaer, daughter of Mrs. Jessie A. Gumaer of 27 Abrynn street, and John E. Bold, son of Mrs. Henrietta Bold of 111 South Manor avenue, were married on Saturday, October 31, at the parsonage of the Rondout Presbyterian Church by the pastor, the Rev. James N. Armstrong, Jr. They were attended by Miss Helen E. Gumaer, a sister of the bride, and J. Edward Gumaer, a cousin of the bride.

D.A.R. Meeting Thursday

At the regular monthly meeting of Wilt-yek Chapter, D. A. R., to be held at the chapter house on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Russell of Saugerties, state historian of the D. A. R. will give a report of the recent state conference and will be the guest speaker for the afternoon. Mrs. G. Newton Wood will give a paper on "A Visit to some of the Colonial Homes of the Hudson Valley," and there will be piano selections by Frances Cless. An informal reception to Mrs. Russell will follow. The hour of the Board meeting will be 2 o'clock and of the regular meeting, 3 o'clock.

Cook-Pressler Wedding

Plattekill, Nov. 3.—Miss Marian Pressler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Pressler of Savitlon, and Herman Cook of Gardiner, were married Sunday, October 25, in the Rossville, Methodist Church, with the Rev. George Chan officiating at the ceremony. Mrs. Edmund Wager, presided at the organ, and Charles Everett, baritone, sang "Until" and "O Promise Me." The church was beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias, by Mrs. Jesse Christie of the Little Britain road. The bride, given in marriage by her father, Elvin Pressler, was gown in white transparent velvet and carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Evelyn Pressler, was her sister's maid of honor, and wore pink lace and carried pink chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids, Miss Rose Langlitz and Miss Marie Slaughter, were dressed in peach and aquamarine taffeta and carried shower bouquets of mixed chrysanthemums. Adalbert Smith, of Marathon, was best man, and ushers were Donald Weaver, Albert Langlitz, Gordon Lozier, Alonzo Benedict. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home, and was attended by guests from Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Plattekill, Savitlon, Leptonale, Marathon, Cortland, Little Britain, Middle Hope, Marlborough, Walden and Gardiner. On their return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Cook will reside in Cronomer Valley. Mr. Cook is employed by the Brach Transfer Co., of Newburgh.

Redeemer Ladies' Meeting

The regular business meeting of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. After the meeting there will be a joint session with the Brotherhood.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness and sympathy extended to us during our recent bereavement in the death of Mrs. Cornelia Stella Krum, also for the many beautiful floral tributes.

at that region and come into contact with another mass of air moving up from the Sahara desert. The two masses were thought to be electrified differently, producing unusual electro-magnetic conditions in the atmosphere.

Many people are very sensitive to weather conditions, especially to changes of barometric pressure and humidity. Most of us seem to feel better when the pressure is high and the air is dry. Low pressure and excessive moisture bring distress. Some are peculiarly sensitive to winds. So are animals, especially dogs. All these things deserve serious study.

ROOM FOR PIE.

In this land of many slogans a really good one has been overlooked. "Save room for the pie" is one that deserves wider circulation and recognition than it has hitherto received. It is the appeal of Monroe Strause, pie baking consultant of restaurants, who has traveled back and forth and up and down across the country for eight years in behalf of this famous American dessert. "Pie doesn't cause a stomach ache," says this authority, "but it takes the blame. The real trouble is overloading with other food before the dessert."

That is probably the trouble with most desserts. They are eaten after too hearty earlier courses. It doesn't matter with a lot of them, but pie—deserves better treatment. In fact, there might well be a special meal, say at or a little before bedtime, in which the only food is a generous slab of apple pie accompanied by your favorite cheese and a glass of creamy milk or a cup of coffee. This after-hours snack, however, seems to call for a home, a properly supplied kitchen and a very lenient cook. For those denied these essentials, pie for dessert, weekly if not daily, is practically a necessity, whether room is saved for it or not.

FEW TUBERCULAR COWS

The Bureau of Animal Industry reports that in August of this year all but 147 counties in the United States were on the modified-accredited list as practically free of cattle tuberculosis. This means that in most of the country infection was less than half of 1 per cent. During the 12-month period ending July 31, about 23,000,000 tuberculin tests were made on cattle. Each month additional counties were put on the list. In many counties and some whole states the disease is entirely wiped out. It is necessary, however, to re-test at regular intervals because infection may reappear in formerly free areas or herds.

Human beings may be infected with tuberculosis by milk from infected cattle. Fighting the disease in cattle is one way of preventing it in people. The germ of cattle tuberculosis was found in 1882. The tuberculin for testing cattle was first used in 1890 and the method was greatly improved in 1926. The program of systematic eradication, begun by the Department of Agriculture in 1917, has advanced steadily since that time with the cooperation of all concerned—cattle owners, state livestock officials and others.

TALKS TO PARENTS

Inhuman Isolation

By BROOKS PETERS CHURCH

There are still many parents who consider themselves in the van of progress when they shut their babies off from human contacts. Mrs. Smith, for example, in most ways an intelligent and sensible woman, will not let her husband play with the baby, nor watch it bathed and fed. She herself overcomes these processes in the most impersonal way possible, and then puts the baby back in its crib until it needs to have its physical wants attended to once more.

Fifteen or twenty years ago such treatment was thought to be best for infants. Doctors advised isolation and no handling for all their baby patients, and the most scientifically reared children were kept in a conventional atmosphere until they were sent to school.

There has been time for a generation treated in this impersonal and inhuman way to grow up, and the results have not always turned out according to the desired specifications. The victims of the method are apt to be difficult, unable to make satisfactory human contacts, selfish and self-centered. Having been cut off from their fathers in babyhood, they have never been able to include him in their life patterns later on. Hence the home has been a matrix, governed by petulant rule, and therefore one-sided, and an incomplete preparation for life.

It is generally accepted fact that babies thrive better in a home, however unsatisfactorily run, than in an institution, no matter how well ordered. Babies need human contacts, and grow fat and jolly on love and petting. It is not necessary or desirable to make them the axis around which the home revolves. Too much attention may injure their dispositions. But too little does nearly as much harm. A baby should be an integral part of the home, not a rare specimen to be kept under glass and shielded from every touch and sound.

The number of Texas farms increased from 495,459 in 1920 to 591,917 in 1935.

The Wrong Murderer

By MUGN CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS. Miss Little does not believe Terence Mahony killed her uncle Vincent and has persuaded Ambrose Lawson to help her. Lawson, who has been out of the country for some time, is sent to the police station and told to keep Lawson at bay.

Chapter 44 STRUGGLE

"ARE you threatening me?" Lawson asked in a cold, quiet tone. "Do you think that is wise? I have my own ways of dealing with people who threaten me, you know."

It was quite the wrong thing to say, and Lawson realized it almost as soon as he had spoken. He ought to have calmed Lee-Ramsden down, reassured him, and then dealt with him swiftly and unexpectedly.

There was no hope of that now. Lawson's tone of cool contempt had added fuel to Lee-Ramsden's rage, destroying any hope of even a temporary reconciliation. The old man's face became suffused with a flush of violent rage; that little vein, which betrayed his temper, was beating strongly in his forehead.

"Deal with me, will you," he said thickly. "You'll deal with me, you bound. I'll damned soon deal with you."

His eyes had become slightly bloodshot. For a moment he gazed round the room wildly, as if seeking something. His glance encountered a bronze statuette standing on a small table. He sprang forward, snatched it up in his right hand, and hurled himself at Lawson.

The statuette came down in a vicious blow aimed at Lawson's head, and it was only Lawson's swiftness which saved him.

He dodged quickly, sprang out of range, and then, as the old man lumbered after him, sprang forward to meet him, snatching at the wrist of the hand that held the statuette.

For a few seconds the two men struggled at close quarters, Lawson trying to push the old man over and pin him down in an arm-chair, the old man striving vainly to brain Lawson with the statuette.

Actually the struggle should have been quite unequal, for Lawson was by far the younger and immeasurably the stronger of the two, but he lost the old man strength, and try as he could, Lawson could not master him.

A sudden spasm of fierce impatience seized on Lawson; he felt he must end this struggle quickly. Shifting his grip, he released Lee-Ramsden's wrist, clutched at the statuette, snatched it out of the old man's hand, and brought it crashing down on his head.

That ended the struggle all right. The old man's body suddenly went limp; he staggered back a pace, and then fell crashing to the floor. Lawson, breathing heavily, was left standing in the middle of the room. Lee-Ramsden lay quite still. The flush had faded from his face, and his complexion had taken on a curious grey tinge. From the left side of his head ran a small trickle of blood.

"Oh, damn!" said Lawson.

He threw the statuette down, stepped quickly across the room, poured out a glass of brandy, and bent over the old man. But one moment's inspection showed him that brandy could do no good at all. Lee-Ramsden was dead.

LAWSON rose slowly to his feet. All his impatience and anger had left him; his mind was cool and alert to deal with this new situation which had arisen.

The chances were that his house was being watched by some of Mahony's friends; Lee-Ramsden would have been seen arriving; and it would be impossible to explain Lee-Ramsden's death.

Lawson frowned, and meditatively stepped from the glass of brandy which he was holding in his hand. Lee-Ramsden's car was outside the house; his hat and overcoat were in the hall. He slipped his brandy again and nodded slightly. He knew what he was going to do.

He snatched the brandy and rang the bell for the butler. The man entered and stood waiting; he betrayed no astonishment whatever at the sight of that still body lying on the floor.

"I've got a job for you," said Lawson curtly. "Mr. Lee-Ramsden's hat and coat are in the hall. Put them on, and then make your way quickly."

out to his car and drive away. If anybody's watching, I want them to think it's Lee-Ramsden driving away.

"Go on driving until you're quite certain you're not being followed, and then abandon the car in a quiet place, and bring the hat and overcoat back here in a parcel."

"Very good, sir," replied the man, and left the room.

That was that, thought Lawson; if Lee-Ramsden had been seen entering his house, he would also be seen driving away from it. So far as the body was concerned, that could remain in the house for the time being until a convenient opportunity occurred to dispose of it.

In a corner of the room stood a big cupboard containing unimportant books and papers. Lawson cleared them out, piled them in another corner of the room, thrust the body into the cupboard and locked the cupboard door.

FATTY BASSETT was very worried. Things were happening which he did not understand in the slightest. He sat frowning, staring at the fireplace, and occasionally drinking beer from a large tankard. Barney Flynn, who was with him, noticed his preoccupied air.

"What's the trouble with you, this evening, Fatty?" he inquired.

Fatty shook his head. Ordinarily he was not a communicative person, but on this occasion he felt the need to confide in someone.

"It's the gunner," he answered. "I'm thinkin' he's gone off 'is rocker. But you know wot 'e's like; it's no use arguin' with 'im."

"And what's he after doin' now?" asked the Irishman.

"E's made an appointment to meet Miss Little in a lonely house in Clapham in an hour's time. E told me 'fasc' 'e reckoned there was a trap in it—that that Bloke Lawson was layin' for 'im with some dirty scheme. An' 'e's gone off on 'is own, and when I asks wot I was to do about guardin' 'im, or settin' an ambush to catch Mr. Ruddy Lawson, 'e says, 'do nothin'."

"What's that yere sayin'?" You mean he's gone off to that house where he expects to find a trap, an' there's nobody from our side gone with him at all?"

"That's what I mean," answered Fatty grimly. "I tried to talk it out of 'im, but 'e wouldn't listen. Don't worry about it, Fatty, 'e says, I know wot I'm up to, an' or 'e's went."

"And you let him go like that, all by himself?" said a voice just behind them.

Ruth Fraser had just entered the room and was standing, pale and indignant, looking at the two men.

"You let Terence go off by himself, knowing he was going into a trap?" she repeated.

Fatty had an uncomfortable air. He flinched uneasily in his seat.

"There was no stoppin' 'im," he protested. "E told me particularly 'e didn't want any of my blokes mixed up in this, an' 'e didn't want to be foiled. I tried to argue with 'im, but it was no good."

"Tell me exactly what happened—the whole story," said Ruth imperiously.

Fatty hesitated. He looked more uncomfortable than ever. It seemed that he did not know what to say.

"Well, Miss... it's a bit awkward like, because 'e particularly told me, I wasn't to say nothing about it to 'you," he blurted out.

"Oh, did he?" said Ruth. "Then you can just forget that. You've already told me something about it, and you're going to tell me the rest. He's gone to meet Miss Little, I think I heard you say."

Her expression was set and determined; it was evident that she meant to learn all Fatty knew. Had she been a man, Fatty would have had no hesitation in telling her to go straight to hell.

But he was unaccustomed to dealing with young society women; he did not know how to begin to argue with her. Also, in a way, he sympathized with her. He did not approve of Mahony chasing his life in order to see a beautiful young film star who was probably setting a trap for him.

Not that he disliked Elsie; he had admired her immensely in "The Silent Stranger." But he disapproved of Mahony getting mixed up with film actresses when he could have a real woman for the asking.

"Oh right," he said in a resigned tone. "But there'll be 'ell to pay when 'e finds out I've told yer. This was 'ow it was."

ROCK GARDENING

Mayor C. J. Heiseleman

One of the rules of newspaper writing is that all material must be as accurate as possible and thus it necessitates a good deal of checking sometimes in order that some little fact in an article may be absolutely correct. The application of this rule led to this interview because in verifying a bit of information concerning Kingston's Mayor and his interest in flowers, it was found that he was in the habit of spending his spare time in the cultivation of a large rock garden in the rear of his home on West Chestnut street, and as most men who ride a hobby, Mayor Heiseleman was more than willing to talk about his pet subject.

A journey to the mayor's home brought to light the fact that Kingston's leader has a large and beautiful rock garden comprising a space about 70x125 feet and containing over 125 varieties of rock plants growing in the midst of one of the finest of natural settings.

As soon as Mr. Heiseleman was safely inside the gate of his garden he began to explain the various kinds of plants and some of the work and experiences he has had with their growth. The mayor pointed out that "while rock plants are not so showy, they have a charm all their own, giving dainty appearance but being rather hardy."

At the beginning of the garden where a flight of irregular stone steps make the ascent to the higher ground, is a section planted with a ground covering called Vinka Minor Periwinkle which bears a tiny purple flower. This stone pool nestled at the foot of a rock incline from which drips and trickles water that supplies the pool, and quenches the thirst of a species of oriental fish that sports blue, pink and white blossoms, and in turn is a rendezvous for several frogs and gold fish. Bordered this pool are two varieties of dwarf trees, one being called a table pine, and a patch of Japanese lanterns.

To the right of this spot is a section given over to mountain laurel and alder, while further up the hill can be found a plant called Thyme, with a tiny lavender flower. Then one comes upon Saxifrage, a yellow flowered plant from Vermont that Mayor Heiseleman believes to be the only one of its kind in this city. Scattered about is Pacha Sandra, a ground covering that will grow where even grass finds it too shady to exist. The various shades of green of the rock plants, growing in the crevices of the rocks, make a very pleasing contrast about the whole garden.

At the summit, gained by following the stone steps up from the gateway, is a fireplace, and here Mr. Heiseleman is planning to construct a lean-to where he might seek peace and quiet and an opportunity for contemplation and reflection in a scene of natural beauty.

Mayor Heiseleman stated that his hobby was not to be classed as expensive, and that the benefit that might be derived in the way of health in working out-of-doors, was very great indeed. The rock plants require very little soil in which to grow and the more natural rock formation that exists in the land where a garden is to be made, the better will be the resulting creation. His garden has been formed on what could be termed reclaimed land; that is, made in the middle of a patch of brush and rocks which once presented a tangled, wild appearance but now has been transformed into a beautiful spot. Some of the plants were obtained by the Kingston man this summer from Barre, Vt., or put in his own words, "I took a 425-mile trip to purchase $6.25 worth of various plants that I could not obtain around this section."

As he closed the gate that led to his garden hobby, Mayor Heiseleman remarked that "he wished more people would become interested in gardening and flower raising, so that they, too, could receive the advantages that would come to the out-of-doors worker, and could also help in making this world a more beautiful place in which to live."

WEST PARK SCHOOL

ATTENDANCE FOR OCTOBER

The following pupils were neither absent nor tardy for the month of October at the West Park school: Henry Dirks, Rudolf Dirks, James Dickinson, Robert Dickinson, Augustus Garibaldi, Alfred Garibaldi, John Mahoney, William Mahoney, Lawrence Marrogi, Russell Marrogi, Thomas Murphy, Timothy Murphy, William Achenbach, Ursula Ackert, Alice Bennett, Oliver Bennett, Beate Bennett, Erica Dirks, Betty Jones, Barbara Oberg. Attendance was 94 per cent.

The pupils enjoyed a Halloween party at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon. Costume prizes were won by Alice Bennett and Nathan Ackert. Thomas Murphy and Betty Jones won prizes in the pumpkin game. Delicious refreshments were served. The schoolhouse was decorated with black cats, black bats, pumpkins and cornstalks.

KEEPING FIT.

It was my privilege for a number of years to lecture to high school teachers—all university graduates—on the general care of the body with particular emphasis on the value of exercise and also of play. My thought was to so entice these teachers—men and women—in the general effects of exercise that they would stimulate their students to take regular exercise and engage in group games.

I tried to point out the effect of exercise in circulating the blood, clearing the complexion, assisting digestion, preventing constipation, giving a good posture or carriage, preserving the figure, clearing the brain and promoting alertness, attaining muscular and nervous control and other benefits.

It is therefore a source of great satisfaction when you read of a whole evening of a great organization such as the British Medical Association being given over to the one general subject, "Keeping Fit."

Just two lectures were given and they were quite properly on diet and exercise. "Just as in a town, after a rain and a good wind, the dust and dirt were taken away and clean fresh air resulted, so exercise, by bringing about improved circulation, took away the waste materials from the body cells and brought to them the equivalent of fresh air in the shape of extra supplies of oxygenated (pure) blood."

This then is the keynote of exercise—removing the wastes, and bringing to every cell the pure life giving blood that maintains strength and stimulates it to further effort.

Man's body is covered with muscle, and this muscle was meant to be used. In fact man's stomach, intestine, lungs, heart, every organ, are built on a large scale so that they could do all the work which would be necessary when all these muscles were worked or exercised.

An amount of exertion which quickened and deepened the breathing was good for everyone. If the exercise were taken in the open air so much the better. Walking, skipping, dancing and swimming were excellent exercises within the reach of everyone.

"Nearly everyone knew the pleasant feeling that came after exercise, also that the fatigue due to a day of work and worry was sensibly lessened by exercise."

United States is negotiating a trade treaty with a foreign country. The list of proposed American tariff concessions can sometimes be obtained abroad—almost at once—at about $200 a copy.

The United States protests in each instance, and gets a quick response from the foreign party to the treaty that it is simply beyond understanding how such a slip could have occurred.

Secretary of State Hall will get $5 a day for living expenses at the Pan-American conference in Buenos Aires. He will his stenographer. The stenographer probably can get by on $1 with care. Hall can not.

There was before the 1935 economy act when top flight delegates could sack the government for $15 to $20 a day, but not any more.

FROM inside comes this story. A group of jewelry manufacturers want to the state department. Their inner mechanism just buzzing with indignation. They had learned they said that duties on certain grades of foreign watches were being cut.

Oh, no, so-called state department. Nothing is concluded yet. Watches may not even be included. But the watch makers were armed with hot evidence. They unfolded right there a photographic copy of the list of tariff concessions the United States had agreed to make. There was the cut in watches. How come? The state department had had foreign troubles before, so just blundered it off.

The story learned was this. When the United States is negotiating a trade treaty with a foreign country, the list of proposed American tariff concessions can sometimes be obtained abroad—almost at once—at about $200 a copy.

'Y' Secretaries Hold National Election General Conference

The sixth annual conference of general secretaries of the Y.M.C.A. located in cities under 50,000 population was held at the "Ye Olde Delaware Inn", Stamford, under the able direction of Chairman Clarence S. Schoonmaker, former general secretary of the Kingston association.

The general theme of the sessions was "How can the Y.M.C.A. increase its effectiveness in these changing times with its many problems confronting the youth."

The outstanding presentation and discussion led by Dr. Galen Fisher, former director of social research, and for 20 years a secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Japan, was centered around the question "How Shall the Y.M.C.A. deal with Controversial Questions?"

Chairman Clarence Schoonmaker welcomed the delegates and then appointed Robert L. Sisson, general secretary of the Kingston Y.M.C.A. for the fourth time as secretary of the conference.

Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, senior secretary of the state committee Y.M.C.A. committee, sounded the keynote of the conference in his appeal to the delegates to go back to their respective associations and stress the religious emphasis in their work with the youth. A closer cooperation between the churches and the Y is to be sought so that the results may be more far-reaching. He urged that the Christian laymen live their religion in the daily life activities.

The Sunday morning devotional services were led by John Tagg, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. of Lockport. Mr. Tagg urged the secretaries to place more concern in their thanks to God for the many blessings which we enjoy day by day without having to be concerned how or whether they will take place. The world needs another great spiritual revival and more men who are concerned with brotherhood and less material minded. A. L. Esplin, noted singer in the northeastern section of the state, and general secretary of the Y in Johnstown, rendered several fine vocal selections.

State Secretary Leslie J. Tompkins, in charge of personnel and finance, explained the insurance and tax experiences of the past year and also the impending problems facing the association movement. The Social Security act was carefully explained in its relation to the Y.M.C.A.

An interesting travelogue was given by Miss Higgins of Cortland, on her visit to Europe and her voyage over and back on the British liner Queen Mary.

Walter Lindell, general secretary of the Elmira Y.M.C.A. was unanimously chosen as the successor to chairman to Clarence S. Schoonmaker for the coming year.

The following secretaries were in attendance at the conference: Dr. Galen Fisher, Dr. James Lee Ellenwood, Leslie J. Tompkins, New York city; Edwin S. Jones, Gloversville; William E. Abbott, Nyack; J. R. Gray, Ithaca; C. M. Knight, Hornell; William H. Baumgarten, Mohrville; A. L. Esplin, Johnstown; C. W. Kindig, Saratoga Springs; John Tagg, Lockport; Walter Lindell, Elmira; Carl Clippinger, Rome; Fred C. Belmer, Glens Falls; Robert L. Sisson, Kingston; Donald W. Hague, Cohoes; A. D. MacLaughlin, Olean; Fred R. Bentley, Cortland; Philip Miller, Tarrytown; William D. Leach, Tarrytown; Frank L. Howe, Jr., Port Chester; Clarence S. Schoonmaker, Amsterdam.

Day Nursery Report For October Given

Adjutant and Mrs. Noble, the officers in charge of the local unit of the Volunteers of America report the work accomplished for the month of October at the Day Nursery and Emergency Home, 24 Barmann avenue. Total attendance at the nursery for 24 days in October was 134 children, who were served with 124 dinners, 268 lunches, and eight breakfasts. One birthday party was given to one child whose birthday occurred in the month. Twenty-two parents of these children were thus enabled to be employed earning wages for themselves for 528 total days. The parents contributed $12.55 in the daily 10 cent fee.

Bread has been given out daily, also some clothing and furniture has been given out. Outside employment has been secured for two men in need of work. Three outside persons have been employed at the nursery.

One emergency case was cared for two days and two nights; six meals were given and treatment prescribed by the physician.

Forty calls and investigations were made and four hospital calls.

The local unit took part in 13 church services during the month.

Josef Israels Here Wednesday Night

JOSEF ISRAELS.

Wednesday evening, November 4, under the auspices of the Schoolwomen's Club, the second lecture in the series sponsored by the organization, will be held in the Kingston High School auditorium. The speaker will be Josef Israels, star reporter for the New York Times, the field editor for Pathe News, who will take for his topic, "The News of the World Today."

Mr. Israels was sent to the front for the Times and Pathe News during the Italo-Ethiopian war and was the translator for Italo Selassie during the latter's only successful broadcast to the United States.

In his lecture Mr. Israels will pick apart the factors which continue to make Spain and the Mediterranean world power keg at present, and his analysis will, as well, cover other vital topics.

Mr. Israels, author of "The Sea and the Land," and "Rebecca the Wise," comes well recommended by clubs throughout the country where his addresses were enthusiastically received.

Third in the series will be William Rose Benet, author, poet, who will be heard on Wednesday, December 2. Tickets for the Israels lecture may be obtained at the high school or from members of the club. Lecture course tickets also may be obtained.

Snow, Sleet, Rain Face U. S. Voters

Washington, Nov. 3 (AP).—Snow, sleet and rain—or threats of them—faced the voting army in many parts of the country today.

Chill storms, moving a blanket of snow and sleet across Nebraska into western Iowa last night, were due to hit Chicago during the voting, with "markedly colder, rain turning to snow" in the cards for Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri and eastern Minnesota.

Driven by stiff winds, the snow had already blocked some Utah and Dakota roads, and icy coatings spread over Minnesota highways. Zero weather was predicted in parts of the Dakotas and Nebraska.

The warm and sultry calm which greeted Broadway stay-up-lates early today led to predictions of imminent rains, echoed in most of the eastern seaboard and the Ohio valley. Late in the day, it was expected to turn cold in this area.

Most of Florida and Georgia looked for sunny skies, but scattered showers were due on the extreme south coast and western portion of Florida.

Fair weather, but cool, favored the far west, too, and in the Rocky Mountains, where snow and colder weather prevailed yesterday, voters looked for slowly rising temperatures.

State Voters Throng Polling Places

Hyde Park overlooking the Hudson, President Roosevelt concluded a final appeal to the voters less than an hour before midnight.

Pivotal State.
With its 47 electoral votes, New York is regarded as a pivotal state in the presidential race.

Sharing interest in the state with the battle for the governorship were the numerous contests for state senate and assembly posts. On the outcome of these contests depended control of the legislature next year. The Republicans controlled the 1936 assembly, 81 to 69, while the Democrats controlled the senate, 29 to 22.

The party state tickets also carried the names of candidates for two representatives at large and these state posts: Lieutenant governor, attorney general, comptroller and associate judge of the Court of Appeals.

Five parties had places on the ballot—Democrats, Republicans, Socialists, Communists, and American Labor.

Also before the voters were two propositions—one proposing a $30,000,000 bond issue for unemployment relief and another proposing a constitutional convention, the first in more than a quarter of a century.

Party Workers Busy
Throughout the state, party workers were busy "getting out the vote" despite the inclement weather. With an unprecedented official registration of 6,217,246, the legislature met in special session two weeks ago to extend the hours of voting so that all would have the opportunity of exercising their franchise.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. and will close at 9 p. m. Instead of 6 p. m. as in previous years.

As the strenuous period of campaigning drew to an end, predictions of victory came from the rival political camps.

Charles H. Griffiths, manager for Bleakley, declared his candidate would win by at least 300,000 plurality. National and State Democratic Chairman James A. Farley estimated that Governor Lehman would ride into office for a third term with a comfortable margin of 600,000 to 750,000 votes.

The governor planned to cast his ballot this morning in a Madison avenue polling booth and expressed his confidence in victory for the entire Democratic ticket.

"I have never been happier in my life than I am today and have been for the past two months," he said. "I realize more than ever the opportunity that is given to me to continue the fight for true democracy for all the people of the state."

Bleakley likewise was confident of success, concluding his campaign with a pledge of tax reduction if the New Deal administration is voted out of Washington and chided Governor Lehman for what he said was his failure to answer questions on campaign issues.

"I regret to see the governor of a great state either unwilling or unable to reply to well considered and relevant interrogation," he said.

The Republican candidate, with his family, was among the early voters in his home city of Yonkers. He planned to receive the election returns tonight in a New York city hotel.

Governor Lehman made arrangements to receive the returns at his campaign headquarters.

Absentee Ballots Here Number 149

There were 149 absentee ballots cast in the city this year, and the ballots have been delivered to City Clerk E. J. Dempsey. Today the city clerk called at the various polling places in the city and delivered the ballots. The 149 ballots were widely scattered. Practically every district had several absentee ballots this year.

Bleakley Votes Early at Yonkers

Yonkers, N. Y., Nov. 3 (AP).—William F. Bleakley, Republican candidate for governor, cast his vote in the early hours today and settled down in his home overlooking the Hudson river for a rest preparatory to returning to New York to receive the election returns tonight.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bleakley and eldest son, William, Jr., the nominee was among the first at his home district polls in the Gorton High School here despite the fact his four weeks' drive for votes was not concluded until 1 a. m.

Tonight, Bleakley, members of his family and close friends will assemble in the ballroom of a New York hotel to receive by special wire the returns from both state and national.

As the polls opened, the Republican standard bearer was confident of defeating Governor Lehman, his Democratic opponent, but declined to make any definite predictions of a plurality.

His campaign manager, Charles H. Griffiths, forecast victory by "not less than a 300,000 plurality."

Ten pounds lighter than when he started his stumping tour on October 2, Bleakley concluded his campaign last night with a general attack on Lehman and the assertion that "it will be quite possible for me to bring about tax reductions" in event the New Deal is not returned at Washington.

"I would say now that the second year of my administration should see these predictions materialize," he said in his election eve speech, broadcast over a statewide network.

The reductions, Bleakley said, can be accomplished without reducing or impairing essential services rendered by the state.

"In fact," he added, "some of these services should and will be extended."

After his final appeal to the people to oust Governor Lehman and the New Deal, Bleakley attended a dinner given by Edwin Love, vice president of the Chase National Bank, and spoke at enthusiastic rallies on Staten Island and in Yorkville and Harlem.

Roosevelt Pays Kingston Visit

my ancestors came from Ulster county, but also because I have several cousins here. This is the fifth time I have come to Ulster county on the day before election. I could not help but notice as I came up along the river from Newburgh and through Marlborough, Milton and Highland, that conditions are much better than they were four years ago and I sincerely hope they will continue to grow better during the next four years." He said he was not going to "breathe politics" and stated that "because of the great amount of work during the past four years I have not had the opportunity or time to get across the Hudson river to see my friends and neighbors on this side of the river."

His talk was concluded at 3:26 and after shaking hands with several prominent Democrats he turned to Felix Kozlowski, a crippled lad in a wheel chair and shook hands with him and then left for the ferry.

Flags Displayed.
Along the route the presidential party was greeted by people who turned out to see the chief executive and flags were displayed at various points along the route.

President Roosevelt, concluding a very strenuous campaign which has carried him through the country on a many thousand mile tour of speaking, looked slightly thinner than four years ago but his face was bronzed and he appeared fit. His ever present smile beamed on the people along the route and the gray campaign hat was removed and being waved most of the time as his caravan speeded through various hamlets and towns on the trip.

Just before the president arrived at Acadamy Park a host of high school students, dismissed at 3:15, began to arrive and swell the crowd of anxious listeners. Experienced newspaper men who covered the country with the president on his election campaign estimated the crowd from 5,000 to 7,000 in the street, buildings and in the vicinity of the square where President Roosevelt spoke.

Someone has said, "God gave me my relatives, but I make my own friends." ... Nice thing about true friendship is that it can overlook human imperfections common to all men. ... If friends had to be perfect there wouldn't be any.

Friend—Do come and spend the evening with us. My daughter will sing and play, and at 9 o'clock we have supper.
Man—I will be there at 9 o'clock prompt.

Men of Galilee
The men whom Jesus chose in Galilee.
To teach his word, now known in every clime,
His word, that will endure through endless time,
Were common folks, just folks like you and me.
Discovered—one, two, three, beside the sea.
And other places where, within their prime,
He called them, each to teach His Word sublime.
Save one, a faithful few they proved to be.
Can we, like fisher folks beside the sea,
Extend Christ's word from far off Galilee?
Can we now hear the call to teach, to preach,
And show, once more, to those within our reach
Now Christ, the Master, tried men's souls to win,
And how He lived and died to save from Sin?

Two Scots were mountain climbing when one of them fell into a crevasse. The other, peering over the edge, saw his companion holding on almost by his fingernails.
"Hold on," he exclaimed. "I'll run to the next village and get a rope to pull you out."
An hour later he returned. "Are you still there?" he roared.
"Yes, and have you the rope?" came the faint reply.
"No, indeed," was the angry answer. "The dirty dogs in the village wanted to charge $5 for it."

Some of the brainiest men of our generation have done the world the most harm.

It was two in the morning and Ross made so much noise trying to locate the keyhole that his wife came down to the door.
"What's the matter?" she asked severely, well knowing when she gazed upon Ross, who was leaning in all too careless attitude against the railing.
"Found a fellow down on the porch tryin' to get into the house," he explained glibly.
"Do you know who he was?"
"Sure—he was me."

Old Lady—You don't chew tobacco do you, little boy?
Little Boy—No, ma'am, but I could let you have a cigarette.

Lecturer (who has spoken for two hours)—I shall not keep you much longer. I am afraid I have spoken a rather great length. There is no clock in the room and I must apologise for not having a watch with me.
Voice—There's a calendar behind you, mister.

A rather stout schoolmistress was talking about birds and their habits. Schoolteacher—Now at home I have a canary, and it can do something I cannot do. I wonder if any of you know just what that thing is?

Little Eric—I know, teacher. Take a bath in a saucer.

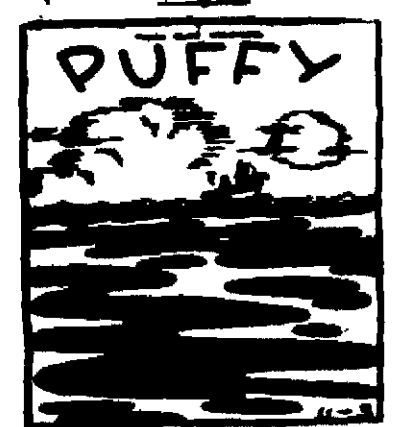

Life brings us many worries and cares, most of which are none of our business.

Old-Fashioned Mama (to her daughter): Be a good girl and have a good time.
Daughter (on way to party)—Make up your mind, Mother.

First Charmer—I always feel better after a good cry.
Second Charmer—It gets things out of your system, eh?
First Charmer—No, it gets things out of my husband.

Frank—There's a fellow hanging around my house trying to get my mother-in-law to elope with him.
Friend—Has he any money of his own?

TIPS ON CONTRACT

By TOM O'NEIL

Lucky

When a hand is overbid into the stratosphere the able declarer at times is able to make his contract. In point is the following exposition of a little slam with the aid of a favorable opening lead, three finesses and a squeeze:

Rosemarie Brancato, operatic soprano, sitting South, passed. So did West. North bid two diamonds, thinking South had opened the auction with one spade. East passed and South, naturally quite pleased, went to three no trump. North leaped to six no trump. East doubled and North redoubled.

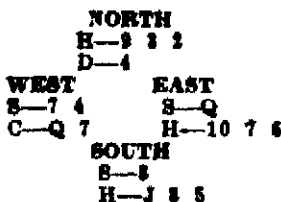

The opening lead of the four of clubs, won by South's king after East's jack dropped, gave the declarer hope.

She reasoned that if she should be so very lucky as to be able to capture three club tricks with the aid of a finesse, five diamond tricks with the help of a finesse, two hearts by another finesse and one spade—a total of eleven—a twelfth trick possibly could be squeezed out.

A small heart was led from the South hand. West's singleton queen was covered by North's king and East's ace. East returned the spade king, which was won South with the ace.

A small diamond was led from South and the jack finessed. A diamond was returned from the North hand to South's king and the ten of clubs was played, followed by all the diamonds. With one diamond left to play the situation was:

On the diamond four East had to discard a heart lest the eight of spades South take a trick. The spade was discarded South and the nine of hearts led. East ducked and the last three tricks were won with hearts.

An opening lead of a spade by West would have prevented the skillful and lucky South from making the slam.

Sailing Days and Sailing Vessels

(Contributed by Capt. John Gurney)

My great grandfather, Capt. George Gurney, settled in Kingston at Rondout in 1830, coming from Wareham, Mass., and carried coal to New York in a sloop, Dolly, carrying 50 tons, peddling it out before there was a coal yard in New York. The coal came in large lumps.

He also carried passengers to Albany at $1 a head, going up in the daytime. The old sloop knew the way so well all hands would turn in, and in the morning she would be back in Rondout creek.

His son, William B. Gurney, sailed her while. The old sloop was built three miles back of Wareham, Mass., and it was brought down to the water in the winter time on ox team and sleigh.

Then William B. Gurney bought his first sloop, the Delaware No. 1, from his uncle, William Hathaway. Now both these vessels lay in the Rondout creek near John Fischer's hotel.

The first schooner he built was the Marion, 1848. Bridger & Bishop built it near the old South Rondout ferry. He carried stone with her for the Brooklyn Navy yard, stone for Central Park. He could sail through the Gowanus canal to the navy yard that was when they were building the Hudson River Railroad.

The year he built the Marion, 1848, his son John was born on August 6.

His next vessel was the Rebecca Ford. The sloop carried 75 tons, hardly big enough, so he next bought the Liberator 90 tons, had her two years, then came the Java, Planter Cashier, Fame, Morning Star, Globe he rebuilt and named the Lucy Gurney.

His son, John Gurney, sailed the schooner Allen Gurney 19 years.

The Allen Gurney lies in Nantucket Harbor as a tea room called The Skipper.

John Gurney carried the stone for the railroad bridge at Poughkeepsie, also for the old bridge that was torn down at Albany and the Battery Wall at New York.

He started boating with his father when he was nine years old and sailed the vessel through Hell Gate when he was 12, all alone. He was on the water 62 years and has had much experience.

Some old sailing vessels I can remember that belonged around the creek.

Annie M. Tower, was the old sloop Bridgeport, built at Bridgeport and later rebuilt and named Anna M. Tower at Poughkeepsie, 1871.

Benn Stagg, built at Newburgh, 1833, later sold to William Fitch, then Capt. William Hyde, later sold to William B. Gurney, then Capt. Terpening.

Charles Lynch, William Fitch, sold to Delonoy, later made into lighter named David.

Canal, owned by William Fitch, who had a flagging stone business.

Congress, Capt. Tom Martin, lays up near the Wilbur bridge, South Rondout.

Clarissa, Capt. Alfred Hyde. Charles D. Beiding, Capt. Hammond Miller, changed to Lavina Delonoy.

Hannah Ann, Capt. George Cole; later Capt. Abe Hyde, was sunk off Bear Mountain by Luserna.

Iowa, Capt. Alfred Hyde. Index, rebuilt named Walter B. Kiots.

Capt. Andrew Hyatt was built at Robertson Shipyard, South Rondout. Jane Grant was the Reformer, Capt. Hammond Miller.

Kinder Hook, Joe Delonoy Capt. Robert North taken to Ver Plank-point made into a dock.

Noah Brown later Julia Tate, belonged to Nyack.

Phoebe Jane Minnerly, Capt. Stephen Hyatt.

John Beveridge, Capt. John Forsythe, later Capt. David Hotelling. Lafayette, rebuilt by Snyder at Edgelyville, named Manchester.

Ransom, rebuilt by Daddy Hamilton, sailed by Isaac Hotelling, Capt. Thomas Adams, Capt. William Hamilton.

William Bridger, Capt. Robert Henry. Othello, William B. Fitch, owner. Margaret Mable, Capt. Black.

Agent, Capt. Louis Suffer, sunk at Esopus light.

J. March. Ida Vale. Livenstone. Highlander, Capt. T. Conklin.

George W. Jenkins, Capt. John Henry Allen. Coaster, Capt. William Legg, lost in Black Rock Harbor.

Henry Krowas Sloop. Wesley D. Hale. Caralin Elizabeth, Capt. Henry Heffner.

Loretta, Capt. Andrew Hyatt. Trimmer, owned by George North, later sold and going down East with a load of lumber was run over in a fog off Block Island by the steamer Great Eastern.

Dutchess, Capt. George Cole, later Capt. David Hotelling made a trip down sound in her and coming back he ran her ashore on Eden neck and it still lies there.

Locomotive, Capt. Amos Barth, sunk off Tivoli with a load of scrap iron.

Westerlo, Capt. William Meyers. Clara Post, Capt. Jerry Post. Columbia, Capt. Donovan.

Isle of Pines, Capt. Southard. Sleightsburgh. Kate & Mary, Capt. Cogswell.

Sleightsburgh. Justis E. Earl, Capt. Cogswell. Buck Eye, Capt. Legg.

Minnie Post, Capt. Jerry Post I. Hotelling. Holbrook, Capt. William Quinn.

Husking-Bee: Here's How Experts Will Attack Corn At 'World Series'

BANG-BOARDS WILL RING
1.—When 16 farmers march down an Ohio corn field, grabbing off ears and tossing them into wagons as fast as they can in the national corn-husking contest.

Newark, O. (AP)—The 1936 "world series" of the outstanding farm sports contest, the national corn-husking championship, comes to the 497-acre farm of Alva Oyer on the old National road, 13 miles southwest of here, November 16.

Nature decreed a change of venue for this year's bang-board contest. Originally it was planned for Missouri, but the drought caused such poor corn there that the sponsors would not bang loud enough to keep the spectators interested. Hence, the decision for Ohio.

Drought Brings Repeaters
There will be 16 contestants—two from each of the corn belt states—Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, South Dakota and Ohio. They represent the best in corn-husking—some places they call it corn-picking—in their respective states. Usually they are chosen in county and state elimination contests, but it is regarded likely this year's contestants from Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and possibly South Dakota, will be the same as last year, since no state contests are planned because of the drought.

Last year's national, held in Fountain county, Indiana, was won by Elmer Carlson, of Iowa. He established an all time record of 41.52 bushels, picking it within the allotted time of 24 minutes.

The Ohio Farmer, one of the sponsors, predicts that 125,000 people will attend this year.

Thirty-five acres of Oyer's farm, here corn field, which he expects will yield 6,000 bushels this fall, will be

2.—Huskers usually use either a "hook" or a "peg." This man wears both, peg on fingers, hook on thumb.

3.—Shuck in left hand, he inserts peg into the husk...

4.—Strip the ear and grasp it to...

5.—Break it free from the stem. It's ready for the wagon now.

ST. REMY
St. Remy, Nov. 2.—The Ladies Aid and Missionary Society will hold their November meeting in the Sunday School room of the church Thursday, November 5, at 2:30 p. m. New members and visitors always welcome. The hostesses are Mrs. Vincent Havila and Mrs. Rudolph Havila.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the fire department attended church services in a body on Sunday.

Mrs. Harvey Terpening came home from the hospital on Sunday. Her friends all hope she will continue to improve and will soon be around.

Mrs. Belle Douglas and daughter, Mirron, and mother, Mrs. Parker of Ellenville, called at Mrs. K. Sutton's on Sunday afternoon.

Miss Constance Blawie attended the teachers' conference in New York on Friday.

The ladies extend thanks to all their friends who helped make the fair and supper such a success.

The regular meeting of the Community Club will be held on Thursday night of this week. It is hoped that there will be a good attendance as the winter's activities for the club are to be taken into consideration. Some sort of entertainment is expected to be provided.

On Friday night of this week the Community Club will open its first league game of dart baseball of the season by playing the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church. The game will be played in the Sunday school room of this church.

The regular weekly meeting of the St. Remy Volunteer Fire Department will be held on Wednesday night of this week and on each Wednesday night hereafter until further notice. This is so as not to conflict with the Red Men and Union County Firemen's Association.

Held in $5,000 Bail Following Fire in Saugerties Oct. 29

Nicholas Banacci, 52, of Saugerties, who was arrested October 29, following a fire at Saugerties, was brought to the Ulster county jail Monday by Chief of Police Richter, having been held for the grand jury after a hearing before Justice Charles E. Bennett of Saugerties. He is charged with arson in the second degree. When first arrested Banacci pleaded not guilty and furnished a bail bond of $5,000. After being brought to the court house Monday his bail bond was approved by Judge Traver and he was released. Banacci was the owner of the two story building near the Esopus creek at Saugerties which burned early in the morning of October 29. The fire broke out about 2:30 a. m. and the front windows had been blown out and the building was a mass of flames when the firemen arrived. An investigation was made by Saugerties police and state troopers and the officers said that several large cans which had contained gasoline or kerosene had been found on the premises following the fire. The building is said to have been insured for $2,500.

HOUDINI DID NOT ANSWER

An attempt to "contact" the spirit of the late Harry Houdini, magician extraordinary, admittedly didn't work when his widow (center) tried it at a séance in Hollywood, exactly 10 years after Houdini's death. The handcliffs, held by Edward Saint (right) were supposed to open, but they didn't. At left is Caryl S. Fleming, head of the Pacific Coast Magicians' Association. (Associated Press Photo)

New Paltz News

Normal School Lecture Course
New Paltz, Nov. 3.—The Normal School is to sponsor a brilliant lecture course under a nation-wide program offered by the "Co-operative of America". Co-operative management makes it possible to offer season tickets for two dollars or fifty cents single admission. The first speaker will be Clayton Hamilton, dramatic critic, playwright, ex-chairman Pulitzer prize jury, on November 10. He will talk about the plays of Broadway and the folk who made them, and his subject will be: "The Public and the Play". During the courses Gen. Smedley D. Butler and Private Pete will give a soldier's answer to the question "How can we wipe out war?" Sir Abdon Banarji will interpret his country locally. Lieut. Commander George O. Noville will tell with the help of moving pictures how he passed two years with Byrd in Little America. The courses will be announced in full later.

Other Activities
At Normal School

New Paltz, Nov. 3.—The feature number of the Lyceum courses will be given in the auditorium on Tuesday, November 12, when the "Westminster Choir" will appear.

Last Thursday the Riding Club had its second supper ride to the Glen. There were 25 riders who enjoyed the hot frankfurters which awaited them. The ride back was by moonlight.

their set-to with Connolly winning the match, 6-2, 6-1.

The Arts and Crafts Club met on Monday and talked over plans for their sale to be held December 9. This sale is an annual affair and articles made by members of the club and manufactured trinkets will be on sale. A number of new members were welcomed to the club. In order to gain membership it is necessary to have either one "A" or two "B" in art courses, and then to submit an article to the committee, who either accept or reject the candidate according to the ability expressed in the article submitted. The new members who were welcomed were: Mildred Rogers, Hope Finger, Marjorie Siehorn, Dorothy Coddington, Muriel Treahay, Charlotte Dietz, Barbara Bossett, Bernice DuBois, Ethel Angyal, June Messner, Emily Anderson, Jennie Berli, Mary Murtaugh and Jean Robinson.

A Men's Glee Club has been formed, the first meeting was held last Tuesday. Professor Howard B. Hoffman made temporary classifications and the group was arranged accordingly. Those who came out were the Messers Cloonan, Tomkins, Ford, Ross, V. Smith, Farmer, Prins, Stone, Asker, McCreary, Stewart, Chumas, Knapp, Pitts, Ramsey, C. Sheeley, Silver, Barton, McDowell and V. Sheeley, with John Rogers as accompanist.

The Girls' Glee Club held a rehearsal Thursday afternoon under the direction of Miss Jennie Lee Dann, in preparation for the Musical Organization meeting which will be held Tuesday evening, November 3. The Glee Club is in charge of the program for this meeting, which will consist of a varied program of songs. A social time in the gymnasium will follow. Miss Anne Scoma is president of the Glee Club.

MODES of the MOMENT

Fashion Says "Little Jackets"

A legion of little jackets of silk brocade and shimmering lame adds fashion spice to this season's cocktail and dinner frocks. This is one of the smartest—a colorful affair of metallized silk Persian brocade which fastens up the front with little gold buttons and adds a "right" touch to a swishing dinner gown of crisp leaf-green silk taffeta. A brocade bag, white gloves and a twisted Egyptian coronet of seed pearls are worn with the costume.

ETIQUETTE AT THE TABLE

Telltale Manners Stamp You Socially

The lifting of a goblet . . . a sip from a cup . . . buttering bread . . . by such small acts as these—an observer can tell whether or not you are well-bred.

The illustration shows how these are often done by those careless about their table manners. The hands show what NOT to do if you are to be charming. Here's what correct etiquette says about such table antics:

Practices to Avoid

GOBLET: Ignoring the chance to hold her goblet daintily and gracefully at the lower part of the bowl, she grasps it awkwardly near the top, extending her little finger.

CUP: She rests her weight on both elbows, takes a double-clutch on cup and saucer, making herself offensive to look at, also making service difficult.

BREAD: Instead of breaking her bread into a small piece at a time before buttering and eating, she is spreading the entire slice thickly with butter.

Many offend their table companions by slips easily avoided. Do you use a fork or your fingers with fresh asparagus?—or a club sandwich? Do you decline or accept a second helping at a dinner? What should you do if you upset a glass of water while dining with friends?

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Nov. 3.—Religious services were held as usual at the Community Baptist Church Sunday morning with a home attendance of 21 present. Preacher William Bender presented another of his fervent spiritually inspired topics. Mrs. Chase Davis presided as organist. Next Sunday services will be held at the usual hour of 10:30 o'clock, with a cordial Christian invitation extended to all.

A host of deer hunters have made their annual invasion of the happy hunting grounds of the reservoir country. Several fine specimens have been taken these first two days. Monday's still misty weather could not fail to find favor with all hunters.

The West Shokan schoolhouse was a place of Halloween festivity on Friday afternoon. A party was given to the pupils by their kindly teacher Mrs. West. Many prizes were given to various pupils, several of those included one to Charles Weidner for being dressed the most comical and he won first prize. Arthur Henriksen and Arthur Smith won second prize. Refreshments were served consisting of cake, ice cream and punch. Also each one was given a small Halloween basket with candles in, and a bag containing marshmallows. Mrs. West's former pupils who attended the party were Mildred Roe, Donald Smith and Cornelia Davis. Small children, who were present included: Ellen Henriksen, Shirley Umphrey, Anthony Colange, Frances Constable, Paul Winkler and Anna Mae Wagner. A very pleasant afternoon was had by everyone.

Halloween jokers played their pranks quite noticeably both among Main street and upland residents. Rocking chairs adorned roadside fences, advertising signs removed from their anchorages, steps torn from buildings and one farmer reported having his hay rake run over a stone wall into the brook.

Mrs. William Wagner was a business caller in Kingston on Saturday afternoon.

Catherine Wilson of North Main street heights spent the week-end in the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Frances Whipple spent Saturday in Kingston.

Mrs. Colange's Halloween party held at the hall Saturday night proved a well pleasing success. There was a large attendance of both young people and grown ups, and although dancing of both round and square sets was the principal diversion everyone appeared in excellent spirits and whether grouped along the side lines or dancing, seemed to quaff the nectar of wholesome enjoyment. Excellent music and plenty of it was furnished by the North Shore Hill Billies. Mr. Spanhake the versatile live wire fiddler, favored during a lull in the dancing with several cowboy songs that pleased immensely. Some of the dancers were in costume, which added color and mirth to the Halloween atmosphere. An elegant shaving set was awarded to Judson Barringer, and the ladies' prize went to Mrs. Burkhardt, a city visitor. This was a pair of pillow cases and towel with hand embroidery and lace. There also was a free refreshment booth, where sandwiches and sodas aplenty were to be had for the asking from the smiling attendant in charge, Mrs. Mary Hyde. Miss Catherine Roe, with her charming personality, also played well her role as assistant hostess. So socially successful was the event that arrangements have been made to hold another dance on Saturday evening, November 14. Music will be furnished by the popular and obliging Hill Billies. Mrs. Colange cordially extends a public invitation. The admission price is moderate and in keeping with the desire only to cover expenses and give to the people of the reservoir section a friendly twice a month place of gathering during the long winter months.

Herbert Hyde, who recently was recalled to his employment in New York city, customarily spent the week-end here with his family and remained until after voting Tuesday morning.

Miss Bertha Merrill, former well known local teacher, now stationed at Burnwood, Delaware county, was a social caller at West Shokan Heights Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Burker and family of Cuba, N. Y., are early deer season visitors at Maple Dell Farm.

Mrs. Margaret Horden of Yorkers, a former well known local resident, in company with friends, spent the week-end in town.

Make This Pert Doll-Then Dress Her!

PATTERN 5725

Here's "Little Miss Muffet" all ready to dance her way right into some youngster's heart! She's just the cuddly kind they all love, and you will love to make, for Doll herself requires but two identical pieces joined together by a narrow strip, to make her round and plump when stuffed. Her hair and features require but few stitches and little yarn. Her hat and frock take little time to make—the circular skirt has no seams—the waist closes on the one shoulder. In pattern 5725 you will find a pattern of a doll that measures 14 inches in height and a pattern for the clothes; instructions for making them; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 253 W. 14th Street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

was a caller in town on Friday. Harry Jordan of Roxbury was a visitor here on Sunday.

Idle Hour Inn was a favored catering place for week-end out of town hunting parties.

Shelton Hill's, famous rendezvous, Henry Sheldon, proprietor, is again a scene of congenial activity with guests from the metropolitan area. Mr. Sheldon reports seeing many deer in his locality during recent weeks and feels confident that an annual buck will surely fall a victim of his unerring aim.

Mrs. Hyatt of Henry street, Kingston, returned home Sunday after having spent an enjoyable week with her sister at Sunny Cliff Farm. On Wednesday Judge and Mrs. Winchell with Mrs. Hyatt pleasantly spent the day by taking a 90 mile trip through fruitful southern Ulster and thence home via the Shawangung Trail to Ellenville.

Mrs. Cavire Ingold, a well known former local resident, is visiting with the Jordan family at Broadhead Heights. Mrs. Ingold came from Roxbury on Sunday.

John Henriksen has disposed of his thrifty hemlock timber on his West Shokan Heights woodlot for log docking to be used in the Bushkill stream flood control project.

Foreman Nathan Eckert, with his efficient WPA woods crew, conducted the cutting operations last week. The trees were hauled out with the caterpillar tractor for handy loading on trucks from the roadway near "Spook Rock." This tract was logged off for the second time about 40 years ago by Zedac P. Boice. It was then owned by Clark Personous, who later sold the seven acres to Michael Dwyer. Many years previous the virgin timber was cut away.

Wilson Terwilliger distributed a load of G. L. feed from the Accord Farmers' Co-operative, to community dairymen on Monday.

The milk inspectors, Mr. Manning and Mr. Wright, made their final check-up visit among milk shipping dairymen last week.

Judge Henry Winchell has augmented his bumper Sunny Cliff turnip crop with a supply of No. 9 spuds from Farmer E. C. Davis. Due to a contrarywise seasonal effect Judge Winchell's "tater" crop failed in the growing, but he is now assured of a well filled favorite and savory dish of "turnips and taters" all winter long.

Raymond Kelder reports success with his early fox trapping, he having taken a pair of grays and an unusually fine red specimen.

Donald Bishop made a business trip to New York city on Saturday.

Garret Mott with his mother, Mrs. Violeta Dodge, of Flatbush, Brooklyn, returned home Sunday after spending the week at the family summer home on Main street.

Will Every of Kingston, a well known West Shokan resident of pre-reservoir days, was a local caller on Friday.

A fine buck was bagged among the group of hunters sojourning with the ex-New York cop, Gen. Jim Harrison, at West Shokan Heights. Congratulations are extended Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Donahoe, proud parents of a young son, which arrived Saturday evening at the Benedictine Hospital in Kingston.

UNION CENTER.

Union Center, Nov. 3.—The Ladies' Aid Society will hold their annual fair in the chapel Thursday evening, November 5. There will be a fish pond and fancy article booth. The menu for the supper is roast beef, gravy, mashed potatoes, string beans, cabbage salad, relish, jelly, bread and butter, pie and coffee. Ice cream will be on sale.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kelly of New York spent the week-end with Charles Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Wright of Westhewen, N. Y., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Ockelmann.

Mrs. J. Harris, Jane and Mabel Harris and J. Mahoney of Belleville, N. Y., spent the week-end with Mrs. Jennie Terpenning.

Most burrowing animals have small or degenerated eyes.

DOES YOUR HUSBAND CALL YOU GROUCHY?

He's truthful if not tactful. Man-like, he is bewildered by your offishness and irritability. He can't understand what you have to be blue about. He wishes that you'd snap out of it. He'd do anything he could to help you. If he knew how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was, he'd go straight to the nearest drug store and buy you a bottle.

"My husband says I am my old self again," says Mrs. Barbara Spears, 799 Elm Street, Akron, Ohio. "I was tired and all in with no appetite. Had no pep and was in poor spirits. Your Vegetable Compound eliminated that awful tired feeling."

Don't try your husband's patience too far. Get a bottle from your druggist NOW. It probably will help you, because nearly a million American women know from personal experience that it helps them.

GUARANTEED RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Common constipation is usually due to meals low in "bulk." Pills and drugs give only temporary relief. The sensible thing to do is to put "bulk" back into your meals.

Millions of people get this needed "bulk" in a delicious cereal: Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Its "bulk" is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it absorbs moisture, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system.

Some years ago, an investigation was made among thousands of ALL-BRAN users. 98 per cent found it satisfactory. Only 2 per cent had the type of constipation that would not respond to ALL-BRAN.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoons daily, either as cereal or in cooked dishes. ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kingston girls bringing FREE soap
to every home in town

VERY soon a group of attractive local girls will start a citywide distribution drive for Lever Brothers Co. They'll call at every home in town with free gifts of Lifebuoy and valuable coupons good for more free soap.

Every housewife will be given a cake of Lifebuoy and two coupons—one good for an extra cake of Lifebuoy when she buys a cake—the other good for an extra package of Rinso when she buys one at the store.

Everyone is familiar with these famous soaps from reading the interesting Lifebuoy and Rinso advertising.

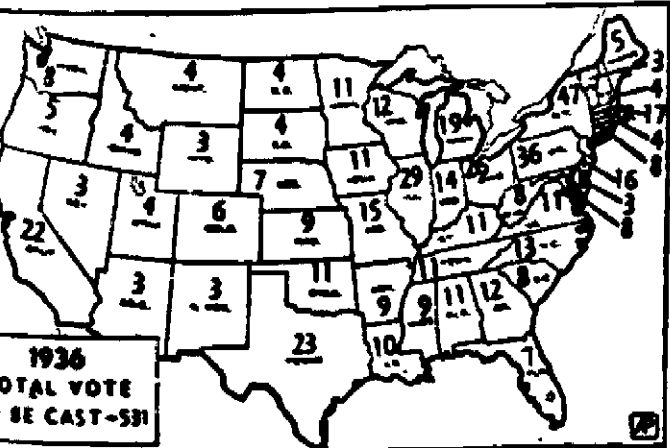

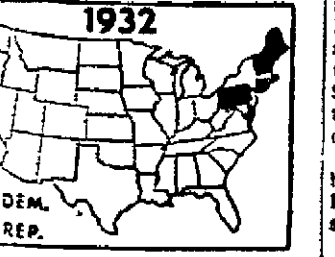

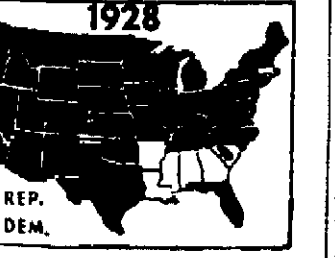

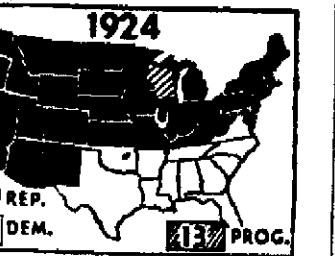

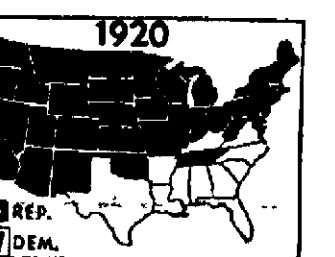

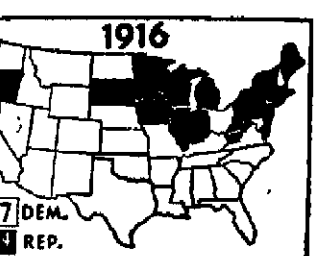

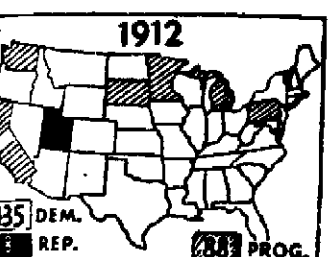

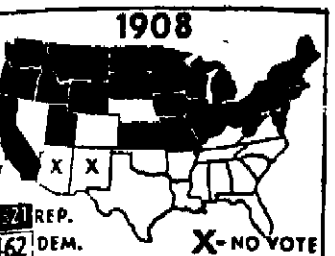

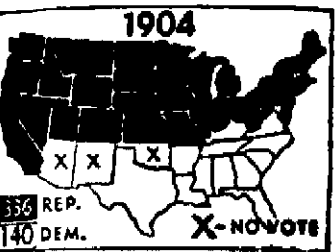

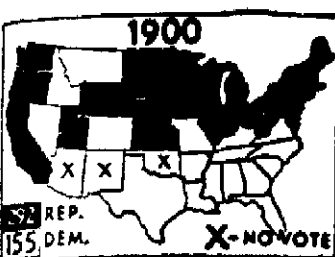

Be ready to receive one of these callers bringing free soap to you.

Mapping
The Vote

Small maps show how the state electoral votes were cast in Presidential elections from 1900 through 1932. Number of electoral votes each state has in 1936 is shown on bottom map. A break in state's dominant vote indicates a split electoral ballot. For instance, in 1912, California cast 11 electoral votes for the Progressive candidate and 2 for the Democratic candidate.

What usually happens in such cases is that voters in considerable numbers believe they are voting for the whole party electoral ticket when they mark an "X" beside the first man's name. In fact they have failed to vote for anyone else. As a result, in some cases, the first man or two on the electoral date of the party which shows minority of the popular vote will get a higher total than the bottom man on the majority side.

(Missouri was not admitted to the union until 1892 and hence did not vote until 1900. New Mexico and Arizona cast their first votes in 1912, the year they were admitted.)

MILTON

Milton, Nov. 2.—The new well for the new Milton school is now completed so far as the drilling goes. Maurice Dayton, well driller of Milton, has the contract. The well is down 206 feet and 6 1/2 gallons of water a minute are being obtained. Plans are being made for a storage tank and other necessary equipment.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Needlecraft and Women's Missionary Societies will be held at the home of Mrs. Birdsell S. Taber Wednesday afternoon, November 4. A group of about 60 children enjoyed a Halloween costume party held in Myron Hazen's cooler from 4 to 9 Tuesday evening. Prizes were given for the costumes and games. Supper was served at a long table decorated with Halloween favors. The party was under the auspices of the Methodist Sunday School with Mrs. Hazen, Mrs. Olive Clarke and Mrs. Grover Ferguson in charge.

The members of the Milton Presbyterian Church will sponsor a New England supper on Friday evening, November 6, in the Sunday School room. Serving will be from 6 to 8 o'clock. Mrs. James Smith is the chairman in charge of the supper. Her committee includes Mrs. Edward Young, Jr., the Misses Eleanor Young, Marjorie Sears and Helen Kent.

The Boy Scouts of Milton held their annual Halloween party on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in their new headquarters at the Friends Church. All of the scouts were present and a few of the scouts brought their friends. A few of their parents were present also. The party was preceded by a closed meeting at which the boys discussed plans for a food sale which will be held in the Milton library building on Saturday afternoon, November 14. Plans were also discussed as to other methods of raising money for the troop. The party started at 8 o'clock. Many games were played and a few of the boys performed stunts. This over, the refreshments were served which consisted of cider and doughnuts. The headquarters were very beautifully decorated and a very good time was had by all present.

Mrs. R. W. Hallock, Mrs. Adelaide Wilke, John Wilke, Mrs. P. D. Vail, and Miss Margaret Ball motored to New Rochelle on Friday to attend the wedding of Miss Lila Lopez to John Phillips Gibbs at the First Presbyterian Church. They then attended the reception at the Larchmont Shore Club. After the reception the bride and groom departed for an extensive trip abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Russo are the parents of a son born at Vassar Hospital last Friday. Lately a great many amateur radio stations have been set up in Milton. Among the licenses issued by the Federal Communications Commission in the last year are W2HSE, C. Kenneth Taber, operator; W2BAF, Sidney Taber, operator; and W2JSL, Robert Wilke, operator. The stations are equipped for emergency use in the event of disaster of any kind. So the people of Milton do not have to worry about being stranded without communication.

Edgar M. Clarke, president of the board of education, and Edward L. Dalby, principal of the central school system, attended a convention last week of the State Association of School Boards. The convention was held in Syracuse.

John Wilke, Arthur Bell, Ruth Bell, David Bell, Betty Bell and Herbert Bell visited Oakwood school, Poughkeepsie last week, where they attended a football game between Oakwood school and Storm King. It was old scholar's day and a dinner was given. After the dinner a play was given by the dramatic club and the day ended with a dance in the gym.

The annual chicken dinner and dance of St. James Church, Milton, will be held on Thursday evening, November 12, in St. James Hall.

Approximately $28,000 in school tax money has been collected so far by Mrs. Adelaide Wilke of Milton, tax collector for the central school district of town of Marlborough. This leaves about $17,000 still to be collected. Mrs. Wilke has allowed an extension of time for payment without a penalty. After November 15 five per cent instead of one per cent will be charged.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Bordis from Gloversville have been visiting Miss Florence Hallock the past week. They have tuned many pianos in both Milton and Marlborough during their visit.

Gloria Clarke entertained a group of friends at a Halloween party Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hepworth and

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Young, Jr., have motored to the Adirondacks for a hunting trip on Tuesday, November 2.

Mr. and Mrs. David Strong of Detroit, Mich., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bell the past week.

Mrs. Glenn Clarke, Mrs. Eunice Gervais, Mrs. Edward Young, Jr., Mrs. Grover Ferguson and Mrs. Westervelt Clarke attended a bridge luncheon given by Mrs. Stanley Harcourt of Newburgh Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Ernest attended the New York state teachers' conference in New York city Friday. They motored to New York in their car.

Arthur Bell and his father, Herbert, visited the latter's sister, Mrs. James Smith, of Mineola last week.

Coyotes Havage Stock

Elko, Nev. (P).—When the Nevada legislature voted a bounty on coyotes two years ago it neglected to appropriate money to pay it. Since the new law replaced the old anti-coyote program, the animals were left in peace by trappers and hunters. Now they are multiplying and becoming so bold that stockmen and sheep raisers are organizing their own extermination program.

Presbyterians Held
World-Wide Rites

First Church Receives 20 New Members in Impressive Service; Men Outnumber Women.

"Presbyterian World-Wide Communion," authorized by the General Assembly of 1936, was appropriately and enthusiastically celebrated in the First Presbyterian Church of this city yesterday morning. The church edifice was well filled for the ceremony.

Just before the sacrament of the Lord's Supper five persons were presented in the office of baptism. Following this sacrament came the reception of new members. Twenty persons were added to the roll, two from the church school and 18 adults, most of these on confession of faith. It was noticeable that the men outnumbered the women two to one.

This fact, church officers commented, is characteristic of a detail in the recent activities of this church. Men are more conspicuous in this congregation than in many another church, young men outnumber the young women in the Christadelphian Young People's Society two to one, they are more numerous in the Senior Christian Endeavor as well as in the Junior C. E. and in the church school boys are often slightly more regular in attendance than the girls although yesterday the girls defeated the boys by a count of two, Ward B. Tongue, superintendent, announced.

Presbyterians throughout the world were engaged in celebrating the Communion yesterday and this unity of spirit was emphasized locally in church hymns, prayers and in the liturgy for the Lord's Supper. The choir, directed by Miss Edna Merrihew, sang "O Saviour of the World" by Sir John Goss, Raymond Dullols being the baritone soloist. Members of the choir also rendered a "Kirie Elison," by Smart, while the Misses Edwina Schultz and Alma Burger interpreted "The Old Rugged Cross" during the distribution of the Bread and Cup.

The Rev. Dr. Goodrich Gates offered a brief meditation on "What It Takes to Be a Christian." During the afternoon the communion was privately administered to 11 of the sick and shut-in of the parish, Elder Robert D. Evans assisting the minister. Persons ready for reception into membership who were not able to be present yesterday, and others, will be received at an early date, it was announced.

As a prelude and postlude, played on the George F. Smith memorial organ, Miss Merrihew interpreted the "Fourth Etude" by Chopin and the "Prelude in D" by Bach.
